Virej Dasani

153 Melwood Drive, Liverpool, L12 4XG

07379693658 | dasanivirej@gmail.com | bit.ly/virejdasani

About me

I am a hardworking and highly motivated Computer Science student at the University of Liverpool. I am a creative and driven problem solver with strong organisational skills, able to manage multiple projects and events while ensuring that deadlines are met and goals are achieved. With excellent communication skills and energetic personality, I am able to work collaboratively with team members and engage with followers to promote events and initiatives.

I also recently started making game development videos for my YouTube channel: youtube.com/Virej/ which has over 1.5 Million+ views and 9.5k+ Subscribers.

This combined with my experience as the social secretary at the University of Liverpool Comp Society has given me valuable skills in social media management, event organization, and most importantly, team collaboration, which I am eager to apply in a professional setting.

Education

University of Liverpool - Computer Science (2022 - 2025)

Witty International School - A Levels (2020 - 2022)

Harvard University CS50x - Introduction to Computer Science, Android app development, Web development (2020)

Experience

Social Secretary – University of Liverpool Comp Society
Organised Social Nights, Hackathons, Managed Social Media (2022-2023)

Skills

- Strong social media management skills, including content creation, engagement, and data analysis.
- Excellent organisational skills, able to manage multiple projects and events simultaneously.
- Effective communication skills, able to work collaboratively with team members and engage with followers.
- Problem-solving skills, able to troubleshoot issues and find creative solutions to challenges.